What makes NGPS great?

Northern Gateway Public Schools supports those who have a hand in every child's education by fostering a program-rich learning environment. Our journeys, communities, imagination/innovation and growth lead to engagement and provide opportunities for students to achieve success and fulfillment.

NGPS has worked to build capacity for all staff and students in the areas of historical, cultural, and traditional knowledge in order for them to better know, understand, and respect the First Nations, Métis and Inuit community.

Stakeholder Engagement

As we plan to achieve improved student success and well-being we will continue to explore communication and engagement strategies with our stakeholders.

Division schools are expected to:

- create action plans led by the principal in consultation with staff, school council and, where appropriate, students;
- review data with their school councils and staff; and
- continually review and revise action plans.

Our NGPS staff continued to inform the community and parents about student activities and engagement in learning through: newsletters, social media, calls home, and the school websites.

As we begin the next three year education planning cycle we will be asking for input from our stakeholders. Please sign up for ngpstalk if you have not done so at ngpstalk.ca.
